International Organization of Women Pilots

Happy New Year everyone:

So far, the weather has been perfect for flying, so I hope many of you have had a chance to get out and enjoy it. Winter will arrive sooner than later, so take advantage of this time and not freeze your fingers while preflighting.

I have an opinion to ask of you: Aviation Digest has been giving us free advertising for most of the past year. They would like to know if we would like to donate funds this time for the February issue. It's 1/4 page - $130. Deadline is Jan 12. Please let me know your thoughts.

Then, most of ENE members know about Olga Mitchell's husband, Peter Mitchell, passing on January 6, but the rest of the Section does not. Olga told me a little about their time together: "Last April we celebrated our 64th anniversary. We met at University of Toronto in undergraduate mathematics and physics and were married on the campus a year after we graduated. We came to the United States in 1963 with our two daughters to work at Bell labs."

On January 9, ENE Sue Benua made a presentation about gyroplanes after the regular Eastern New England Chapter Meeting. Here are some links to gyroplane information.

The Gyropedia link is <https://iapgt.org/index>. This is an online ground school and reference site for gyroplane operation. Some materials are available without a subscription, but if anyone would like to see what a lesson looks like I'd be happy to set up a screen share so you can decide if you want to subscribe.

AutoGyro USA YouTube video at Sebring, FL 2018. <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=Etcq3lfqlbs> They were using my gyro as their demonstrator/trainer before I bought it, and it's the one shown in this video. Bob Snyder was my instructor.

Paul Bertorelli: "Even a numbskull like me can learn to fly a gyroplane" <https://youtu.be/4166UnhtpM> Paul goes over the transition requirements, basic information about how a gyroplane works, and later in the video there are cockpit views and explanations.

I'm always happy to field additional questions, so if you think of something else please shoot me an email at sue@benua.net.

Immunization shots are starting to get distributed, so the end of the pandemic is coming. I know not fast enough, but it will end eventually.

My best wishes to all of you.

Sincerely,

Mary
